- ▲ 12.7 Million
- ◆ 6.5 Million
- ○ 10 Million
- ● 4.8 Million

ANSWER

According to a 2013 Statistics Canada report titled, “Volunteering and charitable giving in Canada”, 12.7 million Canadians or 44% of people, aged 15 years and older, participated in some form of volunteer work in the past year.
From the same data pull by Statistics Canada from 2013, younger people aged 15 to 19 were significantly more likely to do volunteer work. 66% of people 15 to 19 reported volunteering in the past year, which is 18% higher than the nearest category; people ages 35-44 with a volunteer rate of 48%.

The data pull did note that this significant difference in percentages may be influenced by the community involvement requirement that is mandatory to earning a secondary school diploma. “One in five volunteers aged 15 to 19 reported that they were required to volunteer (20%). This compares to 7% of people aged 20 years and over”, according to Statistics Canada.
